

■ Strategic Copywriting

When the stakes are high, you need a seasoned writer – someone who can quickly grasp the purpose, goals, and target audience for your website, brochure, or other project. With more than 20 years experience writing for web and print, Epigram excels at developing strategic, high-value communications.

We can work with you at any stage of development, from collaborating with your design team to develop concepts to writing headlines for a final layout. We can also provide editorial direction to your writers to ensure their work is aligned with your brand messaging and meets quality standards.

Hire us to write engaging, targeted copy for your website, brochure, or other strategic communications.